Nannow Escape.—Yesterday morning, at the Baltimore Depot, a teamster employed by the Adams Express Company made a very narrow secaps. The horses had just been hitched to and had started to draw the company's car across New Jersey avenus, to the freight warshouse, when the lead horse broke from his harness. The teamster undertook to pick up the harness, and at the same time an attempt was made to dissengage the horses from the car, when they took to the outside of the track, and in the meantime the car having gained an impetus, they were drawn some distance backwards, but not off their feet. The teamster was caught between the horses and the car, and several times he was tripped up by the chains, falling, in one or two instances, on the track, but with great presence of the workmen soon jumped on the car and put the brake down, when the car was stopped, much to the relief of many horror-stricken spectators.
